Two officers had been stationed on the Desplaines street viaduct. near the Chicago, Milwaukee & St. Paul freight yards, to prevent crowds from gathering and idlers from guying the men at work in place of the striking freight nandlers.

The officers noticed two particularly sus-belows looking individuals slowly cross he viaduct and enter a saloon on Des-

Madden reeled, but steadying himself, almost instantly brought his own revolver into proximity with the assalant's head and pulled the trigger. Both Madden and his prisoner were taken to the county hospital. The doctors say the man was somewhat under the influence of liquor, and the result of his injury cannot yet be told. boulders were carried away immense distances. "Most of the stuff," concluded the officer, "is stored in the vault and one of our men, who is an expert, says there is enough in it to blow up this building." The coroner moved unessily in his seat and the witness ginged his deposition.

The powder in the bomb found to-day was what is known as giant powder. This in its ordinary form is brown paper mixed with nitro glycerine, but in this case it was mixed with sand. The effect of this is to make wounds inflicted with it far more ghastly and ugly than they would be if it was caused by an explosion of it in its original form.

A sistes of Spice came to the station to-day and after considerable talking Lieut. Kifley elleited from her the confession that a third brother, who was in last night's affray, was lying dangerously ill at his home, It is thought that he will die.

Mrs. A. R. Parsons, wife of the fugitive Anarchist, was arrested this afternoon and was locked up at the Central Station. She was present this morning when the officers made theraid on the Arbeiter Zeitung building, but the officers did not then wish to arrest her. They had planned to shadow her, hoping that she would make some appointment with her husband, so that the latter could be captured.

Another break at the corner of Eighteenth and Centra avenue occurred about 5 p. m. Growds lined the sidewalts for several blocks, but were kept in motion as much as possible. Saddenly a bottle was hurled from the vicinity of a drug store at several police who were situated on an opposite corner. The officers immediately irrew their revolvers and fired. The mob scattered in every direction. Whether any one was seriously injured or not is impossible to ascertain.

The Bloody Scenes of Tuesday Night-Drug Store Mubbed.

CHICAGO, May 5 .- The excitement o he general populace to-day is intense growing out of the massacre planned and carried out by the small band of Anarchists and their blind followers, last night The city outwardly is very quiet. In the street cars and at every point of gathering street cars and at every point of gathering in the city, the events of last night are being seriously discussed. A large and conservative element in the population, it is proper to say, has never seriously contemplated that an outbreak of such serious proportions and atrocious character could be meditated by any class in the community. The words heard on every side to-day are of utter and abborrent condempation of the assault made on the police. to-day are of utter and abhorrent condem-nation of the assault made on the police. The occurrences of Monday and last night are ascribed, in the public mind, to the teachings and recent utterances principally of three men, August Spies, A. R. Parsons and Samuel Fielding, the speakers of last night. They have been pointed out by nearly every paper in the city during the past four days, and the tragic culmination on Depalaines street, has only appeared to past four days, and the tragic culmination on Desplaines street, has only appeared to emphasize these warnings. Their arrest has been repeatedly demanded. When the firing began, last night, Parsons was the only man who was recognized. He was in a liquor store at the corner of Desplaines and Lake street, the Socialist's headquarters, within 160 feet of the point where the deadly bomb was thrown among the ranks of the police. The firing at the police came from the same quarter, and it is surmixed that the criminals obtained their guns and made the Socialist's Hell their headquarters, from which point they made the assult. They were concealed behind boxes and barrels on the sidewalk, leveling their guns and firing during the confusion which followed the explosion of the bomb. Parsons was seen in the place.

The only published criticism upon the Mayor was his not forbidding the assemblage of last night, and similar ones during the preceding three or four years. Thus far to-day no proclamation has been issued forbidding all future gatherings, but it is assured by the press that this will end for some time any assemblages by the red flag advocates.

Chief Ebertold looked on while the officers searched them; then they were put in the cella down stairs. While the prisoners were being searched they cast their eyes to the floor, and seemed the very pictures of arrant cowardice. The officers were too indignant to speak, and while the men's clothing was being overhauled simply glared at them as if, it would be a pleasure to annihilate them on the spot.

The police searched Spies' office, and found absolute proof that the inflammatory circulars mentioned in these dispatches and headed "likevange! The men surged toward the building with threats and violent language. "Tear down the place," they yelled. "Kill Rosen-

The fury of the mob. was directed against the druggist because he had a telephone in the store, and they had an idea that Rosenfeld was giving "tipe" to the police. The rioters in the greater part retreated to the section of the city wherein they reside, in the Fourteenth ward, and although numerous threats were made to his family into the upper part of the house. A mob of six to eight thousand persons re-assembled near the corner of Eighteenth street and Centre avenue at noon, and raided the Rosenfeld drug store mentioned in the early dispatches, carrying off everything portable in the store. They then raided a liquor store in the near vicinity, kept by a man named Weisköpf, carrying away or drinking the liquor. Women and children joined in this raid. The police returned to the scene and succeeded in dispersing the mob.

The tariff question will be the subject of most of the literature to be sent out, though it is not unlikely that the reliabilitation of the lost cause, as shown in the tour of Jeff Davis through the States recently in rebellion, will furnish effective material. The Democrats are fearful lest the Republicans will make much of this matter, and there have been frequent consultations among them as to the beat way of getting Davis off the track. Southern members feel that after all they have said in denunciation of the "bloody shirt" by the Republicans of the North, the fact can no longer be denied that the South is as it irruly wedded to the cause for which is rebelled as it ever was, and they know that it cannot fall to have its effect in the North, no matter what excuse may be offered.

CAMDEN'S AMENDMENT To the Inter-State Commerce Bill Passes the Senate-Its Effect. Special Dispatch to the Intiligencer.

WARHINGTON, D. C., May 5.—In the Senate to-day one of the livellest and system. most interesting debates of the session occurred between Senators Spooner, of will go to New York on Decoration Day, Wisconsin and Camden over the latter's and that when he returns to Washington amendment to the Inter-State Commerce it will be in company with a brids. amendment to the Inter-State Commerce amendment to the Inter-state Commerce bill—the long and short haul clause, Spooner attacked the amendment bitterly and attempted to raily the western men in opposition to it.

Mir. Camden cornered him by asking numerous pointed questions in regard to the present freight discriplinations against the middle States to which the Western Senator was oblidge to give evasive answers. He seemed to be possessed with the erroneous opinion that the passage of the Camden amendment would reverse the present conditions of things, and that at the Western shippers would be discriminated against in favor of the shippers of West Virginia and other intermediate points. Mr. Camden's amendment was finally agreed to, Yess 29; nays, 25.

The technical form of Mr. Camden's amendment thus agreed to, is to strike out from the long and short haul clause of the committee's bill the words. "from the same original point of departure." The only Republicans who voted in the silirmative

Republicans who voted in the silirmative were Mesers. Conger, Mahone, Morrill, Riddleberger and Sherman. The only Democrats voting in the negative were Mesers. Urbut the time of the vote on the amendment the debate was lively and of a most interesting character. Mr. Camden states this evening that he is very confident the bill as amended will pass the House, and that no legislation enacted by Congress for many years has been of greater benefit to West Virginia than this will prove to be. The friends of the measure are jubilant te-night and Mr. Camden is in the best of humor, as he has reason to be. Every West Virginia farmer and business man will be rejoiced at the news of the passage of this bill.
